Out of Left Field
By Ellen Klages
J F Klag 276 pages
Historical Fiction

Katy Gordon is a good baseball player - the best pitcher in the neighborhood, in fact. She's got a curveball that most batters can't hit, but it's 1957, and the Little League team won't let her play because she's a girl. Katy is on a mission to prove that girls and women have a storied history in baseball, and that she's willing to fight against injustice, both on and off the field.

The Bee Book
By Charlotte Milner
J 595.799 Miln
47 pages Nonfiction

Did you know that bees are partially responsible for almost one-third of the food you eat, and that a queen bee can live for up to five years, while other bees only survive for three to five weeks? Find out more fascinating facts about these amazing insects and the work they do to contribute to our well-being. You may be surprised by what you learn!

You Go First
By Erin Entrada Kelly
J F Kell 288 pages Realistic Fiction

Charlotte and Ben live over a thousand miles apart, but they have a lot in common, including playing Scrabble together online. They're both smart, but why is middle school so hard? With family problems like illness and divorce to contend with, and bullies at school making life difficult, they communicate under pseudonyms over the course of a week to try to figure out how to get through some of the most difficult parts of growing up.

Cucumber Quest 1:
The Doughnut Kingdom
By Gigi D.G.
J F CUCUMBER QUEST
187 pages Graphic Novel

Why did Cucumber's father have to demand that he save the Doughnut Kingdom from the Nightmare Knight on the same day he is supposed to start at Puffington's Academy for the Magically Gifted? Why can't Cuco's sister, Almond, do it? After all, she's the one who wants to be a knight. Good thing she tags along on his quest!

Big Foot and Little Foot
By Ellen Potter
J F Pott 136 pages Fantasy

What happens when a young sasquatch and a human boy become best friends? Adventure, that's what! After a chance meeting that wasn't supposed to happen, Hugo and Boone join forces to seek out dangerous and magical creatures, and they find them! Through their journey they discover that, though they come from different worlds, they aren't really so different after all.
